2016 Global Health Forum in Taiwan

Since 2013, distinguished global health leaders, health ministers, officials and experts have made the trek to gather in Taiwan. To discuss and share insights on important health issues faced by the people of the world, such as the challenges of non-communicable diseases, obesity, ageing and healthinequality.

As the world reflects upon the outcomes and achievements of the Millennium Development Goal, the global health community is already looking forward to work together on realizing the vision generated by the newly proposed Sustainable Development Goals. The 2016 Global Health Forum in Taiwan will convene leaders from the worlds of research, policy, and practice to find shared, evidence-based solutions to the challenges that beset our world. They will participate in a series of thematic discussions based on the United Nations Agenda for Sustainable Development 2030.

We courteously invite you to come to Taiwan this October and join in this prestigious and wonderful event. Registration is free for all participants (airfare and accommodation not covered). For more information regarding Forum participation or registration, please contact Mr. Tony Huang of the Health Promotion Administration at wxiii013@hpa.gov.tw
